Regional Society Marketing Toolkit

Your Regional Toolkit

Each Regional Society is an integral part of bringing the best education, resources and collaboration to GI/endoscopy nurses and associates. SGNA is devoted to advancing the practice and fostering development of all members in our community. Put simply:

You are actively contributing to this mission of furthering the specialty of gastroenterology and endoscopy nursing.

This collection of resources is designed to help you and fellow regional leaders encourage participation in various SGNA activities, including your SGNA Regional Society. You'll find sample copy to help you promote events and membership with ease.

For additional resources, visit the Regional Society Resource website.

Two Elements to Market: Membership and Events

There are two main ways to encourage your colleagues to connect and be involved with the SGNA community: membership and events. While events are the “low-hanging fruit” and offer an introduction to the society, membership is still a valuable way to get people involved year-round. In the following pages we’ll outline the different approaches to each type of marketing tactic and provide value statements and key messaging that will help you reach your colleagues with each of these in mind.

Value Statements:

Membership
Membership in SGNA demonstrates your passion and support for the gastroenterology and endoscopy specialty, as well as supporting the initiatives of the Society.
When you join SGNA, you are supporting valuable initiatives for the specialty and can take advantage of our exclusive resources that will keep you updated on the latest developments and topics in the specialty.
With access to year-round webinars, discounted educational materials from the SGNA Store, and the opportunity to earn contact hours at Annual Course, a membership with SGNA will help you to advance in your career.
With access to Gastroenterology Nursing Journal , The Inside Tract , standards & practice guidelines, and regular email communication from SGNA Headquarters, you’ll stay up to date on current trends and industry best practices.
We value your membership with SGNA. Without you, we would not be the thriving community of over 5,000 nurses and associates we are today. There are exciting things happening in our practice and Society in the months and years ahead that your membership is directly supporting.

Events
Attending this event will connect you with local GI/endoscopy nurses and associates in our area. Network and share insights while you make valuable friends in our community who understand the unique challenges of our specialty.
Get <##> contact hours close to home when you attend the event.
Developed by experts in the GI specialty, get the continuing education and training you need.
