

GINAW 2024

celebration ideas

The 11th Annual GI Nurses and Associates Week will be taking place from March 17-23, 2024.

This special week is dedicated to honoring and celebrating the contributions of GI nurses and associates. We encourage you to take time to celebrate the contributions of your colleagues and show appreciation for the important work that they do every day. There are many ways to show kindness and appreciation to your team. You could send a thank-you note, offer words of encouragement and support, or even just take a moment to listen to a colleague and show them that you care.

No matter how you choose to celebrate, we hope that GI Nurses and Associates Week will be a time of inspiration, celebration, and recognition for all the hardworking nurses and associates in the GI field. To help you celebrate the 2024 GI Nurses and Associates Week, we created these free, downloadable resources! Thank you for being part of our community and demonstrating your ongoing commitment to the specialty.

SEND A THANK YOU CARD

Show your appreciation and encourage others in your unit to do the same by sending thank you notes! Fill out our customizable e-card form to deliver a digital message to a friend or colleague, or download our thank you card template to send a hand-written note to someone in your unit.

SHARE ON SOCIAL MEDIA

The SGNA community is passionate and #Proud2BGI. Use this hashtag to share your story on social media and all that there is to celebrate about being a GI nurse or associate.

BRING YOUR OWN TREATS

Encourage your event attendees to make cupcakes, brownies or other single-serve treats to bring to the celebration, or to their units during GI Nurses and Associates Week. SGNA's cupcake toppers can be printed on sticker labels (such as this Avery Label Template) or regular paper, then stick your toppers to cake pop sticks, toothpicks or popsicle sticks.

Download your treat topper template.
